

Is TotalEnergies the biggest battery storage project in France?

The energy major has 103MW of capacity market contracted energy storage online or coming online in France. Interestingly however, despite presiding over the single biggest project in the country, TotalEnergies sits second in Clean Horizon's chart of France's most prolific (publicly announced) battery storage project owners and developers.

Where is France's largest battery energy storage system located?

reported a while back on the completion of an expansion at Continental France's largest battery energy storage system (BESS) project. BESS capacity at the TotalEnergies refinery site in Dunkirk, northern France, is now 61MW/61MWh over two phases, with the most recent 36MW/36MWh addition completed shortly before the end of 2021.

Is France a good place to invest in battery storage assets?

This is all the more encouraging because unlike the UK, there are only two revenue streams available for battery storage assets in France today. The other is frequency control reserve (FCR), aka primary control reserve (PCR), what could be seen as the first rung of the ancillary services ladder.

The 58 MWh battery-based energy storage system will store energy from the solar park when power demand is low and supply energy to the grid when demand is high; This enables a better integration of renewable energy in the power system; It will be the sixth Statkraft project in Europe where Fluence has contributed the battery energy storage system.

A 120kWh zinc-bromine flow battery storage system from Redflow has now been fully commissioned and is operating at Swansea University. It is storing and supplying renewable energy on a microgrid that powers the Swansea University Active Building demonstrator, which the university said is a "classroom that generates, stores and releases ...

We will continue to develop and deliver the UK solar and battery projects in the joint venture's existing pipeline, which extends to 5GW, and a further 5GW of early-stage opportunities." Solar Power Portal's publisher Solar Media will host the UK Solar Summit on 27-28 June 2023 in London.

"SSE Renewables has almost 2GW of battery and solar projects currently in development or under construction. These technologies are key to helping SSE deliver on its £25bn net zero acceleration programme to provide the green energy we need to decarbonise. "By building out more battery storage, we can get more renewable power onto the grid.
