The energy collected by a solar collector or a PV surface over a time period has a strong dependence on tilt angle with respect to the horizontal plane and on its orientation (azimuth angle) with respect to South: the intrinsic greenhouse gases (GHG) reduction potential of solar energy is affected by non-optimal arrangements of solar systems [2 ...

The scientists published their findings in "Maximum energy yield of PV surfaces in France and Italy from climate based equations for optimum tilt at different azimuth angles," in Renewable...

Even though energy from PV systems roughly covered only about 2.6% of the electricity demand in Europe (EU 27) in 2012, Italy was the nation which provided the most electricity in the continent from PV grid-connected plants (i.e. 6.7% of the total) [15].

The accuracy of the proposed formulas resulted in a correlation coefficient with respect to the "exact" tilt angles higher than 0.93 for azimuth angles till 60°;. Proposed formulas allow up to a 4% increase in collectable solar energy, corresponding, as an example, to a virtual increase in PV module efficiency from 21% to 21.8%.
